МОДЕЛЬ

- The problem of a good education worries youth. Nowadays a great number of people consider that it is necessary to go to another country to be well educated . But there are those who are sure that the education in Russia is as good as abroad. Which of the two opinions do I support?
- I think , a person should not go abroad to get a high-standard education. Firstly, we are proud of our famous higher educational establishments like Moscow State University with long educational traditions . Its gradutors are successful both at home and in foreign countries. Secondly, to receive education of a good level in Russia is much easier because lectures are given in the native language.
- However, there are opponents who do not share my point of view. They are sure there is nothing better than being tutored overseas. They give an argument in their support mentioning Oxford and Cambridge standard of education as an example. One is thought to get a perfect education there.
- But I do not find their argument persuasive enough. I do not take into account the university's name alone. It is more important to be talented and hardworking no matter whether you study in your country or abroad.
- To conclude, I strongly believe that the universities of Russia follow modern world tendencies in higher education and combine them with their best traditions . It is possible to get an excellent education without going to foreign countries.
