There are things which will never be replaced by technology

Undoubtedly, many inventions have been made recently that have fundamentally changed the existence of mankind. Experts tend to assume that in the near future technology will fully penetrate our lives.

No matter how much progress happens in technology, our moms will always worry whether we 've eaten properly or not. Technology is just a way to make life more luxurious, it can add a lot of things to our lives, but it can 't replace a lot.

Many people think technology will replace humans in the future. It is true that technology plays a big role in our lives. Technology are better than humans do all the work. We will be able to save our time and energy. However, there are also some disadvantages of using technology. Technology will never be able to replace people, because technology are just a piece of iron and people have the opportunity to think and decide for themselves. There are things that only people can do, such as investing love in their work.

I think this statement is correct. There are things which will never be replaced by technology in the world. In my opinion, basic life-related things cannot be replaced by technology. I think, technology can 't replace the clothes we wear. Technology can 't replace the food we eat. Also technology cannot replace maternal love, emotions. Our feelings cannot be replaced by technology.
